9. Discussion and possible action on update of Toyah Oil Well blowout and flowing Orla Water Well.

- a. Greg Perrin stated that Kender Morgan has stopped the blowout at the Toyah well and is now working on the cleanup.
- b. Devin Tracy and Raymond Straub from Straub Corporation gave presentation on the flowing Orla well. The well has been capped, and the water flow is maintained, and the water is being collected into a tank. Across the street from well 3741 is an NGL solar disposal site. There was some pressure on the surface around 178 PSI. This is a violation of the Railroad Commission (rule 3.17). This pressure should be zero. James Ward asked if they think the source is from the old oil well leaking pressurizing the groundwater table pushing fresh water up so the bottom of the aquifer is getting filled with brin water. Raymond Straub said that's what it looks like. What they found was predominantly gas. Greg Perrin asked if RCGCD has enough knowledge on this well to file a complaint and to write a formal letter to the Railroad commission. Raymond stated there was enough to warrant a complaint and ask the Railroad commission to look further. Nancy Martinez asked if they know if there are other plugged water wells that could potentially start flowing again because of the pressure. Raymond said this is the only one that has been identified that is flowing. There are rising water levels in some of the wells. the potential is there. Raymond stated we need to move forward sooner than later. Gil Van Deventer asked if it was 6-inch PVC on the well, Raymond said, no, it was 6-inch steel with a 4-inch liner inside. Gil Van Deventer stated he spoke with the owner Dan Knox who told him he first noticed the well flowing in February when there were some earthquakes. Gil Van Deventer asked if they found a well report, Raymond said they have not. James Ward stated he thinks RCGCD needs to move forward with a complaint with the Railroad Commission. Nancy Martinez said she thinks that moving forward with a complaint to the Railroad commission is something RCGCD should pursue. Cecil Lee stated it is "our job", "that's why we are serving". Bill Dugat suggested RCGCD add a formal complaint letter to the Railroad Commission to the agenda next month for consideration.
- c. No Action Taken

10. Update on WWTX4.

- a. Greg Perrin Stated he had nothing but good comments about the conference and that he really appreciated the RCGCD Board being there and all their help. Nancy Martinez asked if there will be a link for people to see the video of the conference. Amber Redden said that they are being edited now and then BIS Consulting will upload the file to the RCGCD website for viewing. James Ward suggested that next year RCGCD could do a field trip. James Ward asked Raymond if RCGCD could use the conference for continuing education hours. Raymond said, yes.
